

LONICK LANDED IN JAIL.

After Being Released by Officers in Butte He is Again Captured by a Helena Man.

Investigation Proves Him to be a Criminal Known by the Pinkertons.

He Asks to be Released and Promises to Make Due Reparation Within Five Days.

H. L. Lonick, the swindler who beat John Hardwick out of $650 and "Beck" Hamilton $1,500, most of which he left at the fare table, was arrested in Butte Wednesday night by "Johnny" Mahan. Mahan was formerly sheriff at Deadwood and has had considerable experience with criminals. When Mahan arrived in Butte he at once went down to the Montana Union depot to prevent Lonick's escape on the train for the south which would leave in the evening. Nothing was seen of Lonick around the train, but his trunk was checked to Ogden. This Mahan ordered to be held and returned to Helena. Mahan, who was temporarily clothed with the powers of a deputy, then directed his steps toward the city in search of Lonick. He found the distinguished looking German standing on Park street near the Crystal saloon. Tapping him on the shoulder Mahan told him he was under arrest. Lonick tried to bluff him off, and asked Mahan to produce his warrant. Much to Lonick's surprise Mahan did this, but the swindler still insisted that a fare dealer had authority to arrest him. "Well, I've got you," said Mahan, "and you are not going to get away." Mahan then marched his prisoner off to the county jail. On being searched Lonick had only $38.

It was soon found out by Mahan that Lonick had been under arrest before he got to Butte, but Lonick succeeded in convincing the authorities that they were mistaken in the man. The Butte Miner says that Lonick won about $100 in a gambling house there, and he was known to have at least $1,000 when he left there, and yet when he was arrested by Mahan in Butte he had just been released from the sheriff's office and only $38 was found upon him.

Before leaving Helena Lonick secured a letter of introduction from Mr. Hamilton to his partner at the Crystal in Butte, Mr. Lowry. The latter was not in the city and Lonick then engaged in conversation with the person in charge of the house, and afterwards sauntered to a fare table and played with moderate success. While thus engaged the manager picked up a telegram which was a note of warning as to Lonick, he being characterized as a fraud.

Lonick is very cool as he languishes in the county jail. He sent for Mr. Hardwick yesterday and asked him to withdraw his complaint. With the coolness of a professional criminal, which he undoubtedly is, he informed Mr. Hardwick that he could do nothing with him without incurring heavy expense. "It will cost you at least $500 to prosecute me, and if I am now released I will show you that there is honor, at least, among thieves, and I will pay you your money back within five days." He used all the persuasive eloquence he could command, but Mr. Hardwick was unmoved by his pleadings and assured Lonick he would be making barrels before many moons. Mr. Hardwick before he left, pulled a photograph from his pocket and showed it to the prisoner. This was a snapshot for Lonick, as he saw at once that he was known. It was the prisoner's likeness and was found in a lot of photographs of noted swindlers and forgers, as collected by the Pinkerton agency.

Lonick is a well built man, with dark, curly hair and dark brown mustache. His clothes are of the best and he is a person that would attract attention in any group of people. While here he played a "swindler" game. He won $25 limit bet the Exchange and never had less than $30 or $40 on the table at one time. Whenever he played the table he might be seated at, was always surrounded by a curious crowd. He carried a gold headed umbrella and gold headed cane. On the umbrella was engraved "Dr. Henry Hart." He spoke of having a daughter nine years of age of which he thought the world and said his wife recently died in child birth, and it is on this account that he came west to drown his sorrows. He represented himself as the agent of a German syndicate worth from $12,000,000 to $18,000,000, who do a large money loaning business. Connected with this he told some people that he was correspondent for the New York Herald. A few nights ago Sergeant Nicholson, while engaged in rounding up the well dressed vags, picked out Lonick as a "man who is no good," and told him into the Exchange saloon. With some bustle and throat-clearing cough, Lonick bought a stack of blues. "Who is that fellow?" he asked of John. "Oh," replied Mr. Hardwick, "if you and I were as well fixed as that fellow we wouldn't be here in Helena now; why, he represents millions." The sergeant had half a notion to "vagr" him anyhow and see what his business was. He didn't do this, however, but felt in his own mind that Lonick was no good and told Hardwick so.

Lonick was entertained one day by a prominent man of this city. He was dined and wine at the Hotel Broadwater at the gentleman's expense and driven around the city. Whether he honored one of Lonick's drafts has not been ascertained.

While on the train in charge of John Mahan, yesterday, Lonick told him that he was a practicing physician at Twenty-seventh street, New York, between Seventh and Eighth avenues.

In connection with the draft, it is thought that Lonick signed them with chemical ink. The certification of the cashier is written in red ink, which is said will evaporate in about six days. This is a dodge of expert swindlers to knock out evidence against them, and this is believed to be one of Lonick's tricks. The drafts will be sent to New York, and if the cashier's signature is written in this chemical ink, it will undoubtedly disappear from the paper by the time they reach the New York bank.

If Mr. Lonick resides at Twenty-seventh street, New York, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, as he says, it is not a very good recommendation for him, as that part of New York is generally populated by a class of people who will bear watching.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

An Unknown Man Supposed to be John O. Berly Drops Dead.

Last evening an unknown man died suddenly at the International hotel was. The coroner was summoned and a jury impaneled, the inquest commenced, but continued until 6 o'clock this evening. From the testimony elicited at the inquest and gained from others, the man died from exhaustion caused by disease. It was about 8:30 o'clock when "Kid" Orem drove a hack up to an International hotel and let out a tall, slim emaciated man, dressed in a good suit of grey clothes. The driver carried into the hotel a roll of blankets belonging to his fare and told the clerk, Mr. Murphy, he had a sick man who wanted a room. The clerk inquired why he wasn't taken to the hospital and was told they were closed for the night. Mr. Murphy said he would give the man, who had entered the room a room and the porter started to show him up stairs when the stranger sank to the floor. Another porter was summoned and the two with Officer Vanasse carried the man to room 4 and laid him upon the bed where he died within two minutes after he had been placed there.

Coroner Follenius was summoned and expanded a jury consisting of Herman Richter, Leonhardt, Steinbrenner, Adolph Kempkecke, Henry Wolf, Theodore Wolf and Herman Gerber. Dr. J. M. Sligh was also summoned and the remains viewed. A search of the body brought to light a purse containing $19.40 in greenbacks and silver, a button book, a baggage check and a piece of paper, on one side of which there was an account with C. M. Graves, Spokane Falls, and on the other the words: "This is to certify that John O. Berly is en route from Spokane Falls to Minot, Dakota." The jury retired to the parlor and the inquest began. Dr. Sligh testified that from appearances the man came to his death from exhaustion through a long, standing disease, probably consumption. The two hotel porters testified to facts already stated. The coroner, believing that the trunk of the deceased might furnish a further clue to his identity, adjourned the inquest until he could get possession of it. It was learned that the man got on the train at Spokane Falls. A passenger on the same train said the man's pitiable condition was noticed, and it was learned that he was coming to Helena on his way north. He said he had just enough money for his fare and no more. Some one went around and made up a purse for him, getting ten or twelve dollars. When he got off the train at Helena the conductor turned him over to Policeman Crookham, who secured a cab and had him conveyed to the International hotel. The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker Sennett, and will be buried in Helena unless his friends are discovered and they order other disposition of them. Coroner Follenius says he saw the man at the place in Helena about two weeks ago, and then he seemed to be in the last stage of consumption, but notwithstanding, was an inveterate cigarette smoker.

G. T. Brown, a talented artist, has opened a studio at No. 25, Pittsburg block. Mr. Brown has spent three seasons in Yellowstone park, and from his plethoric sketch-book is now engaged in transferring to canvas the sights of wonderland. The walls of his studio are hung with scenes which will recall to tourists who have been through the park the freaks of nature they saw.

Cards are out announcing the approaching nuptials of James Bradish Wells and Miss Antoinette Suddler, of Salt Lake. The wedding ceremony will occur at the home of the bride's parents in the vicinity city. Mr. Wells is a member of the firm of Wells & Meyendorff and Miss Suddler is well known both in Butte and Helena society. She conducted a dancing school for ladies and children during the early part of the year, was a member of the Encore club and ably assisted in the production of "Erminie" at Ming's.

Alderman Lasser is rigorously prosecuting work on his private water works. The source is a spring about 300 yards above the Penn block. A reservoir 27x14 feet and 12 feet deep is being excavated to hold the water which is of the best quality. A two-inch iron pipe has been laid under ground to the International hotel, and in about one week Mr. Lasser will have no use for Woolston or any other water than that supplied by his own company of which he is "Poo Bah." He says he has sufficient water in the spring which has been flowing through a granite formation for many years, to supply two or even three hotels besides his own. The work of conveying the water will cost about $1,000, but it is a gravity source and will pay for itself in about two years.

THE HAZELWOOD LAND CO.

The terrible loss experienced by Seattle in the late fire was such as to render thousands homeless and dependent upon the charity of the world. The immediate wants were tended to, and the world at large nobly responded to the call for aid. But at the present time the prospects for a long winter are dark in the face of many hundreds of sickle from exposure are certain to occur, and the following plan has been devised to assist in caring for the unfortunate who may need medical assistance, by giving to the different hospitals a handsome sum of money.

THE HAZELWOOD LAND COMPANY has generously determined to donate the proceeds of two houses and two hundred lots to the hospitals of the city, and has purchased this property with a view to disposing of it at a small advance over cost and devoting the net proceeds to the charities above mentioned, and proposes to issue tickets to be sold for $2.50 each for the purpose of raising money to help carry on the work. They have placed the tickets on sale throughout the country, and upon December 31, 1890, a committee consisting of twelve prominent citizens will take all the numbers of tickets sold and place them in a box; they will then be thoroughly mixed and a boy blindfolded will place his hand in the box and draw out one number, and whoever holds the corresponding number will be awarded one house and the pair of lots upon which it is built. Then the fifth number drawn shall be awarded a lot, then the tenth number a lot, and so on, every thirty-fifth number drawn shall be awarded a lot until the two hundred and sixth number shall be drawn, which shall entitle the holder to the corresponding number which shall be drawn, to the remaining house and pair of lots.

All the above property is guaranteed to be free of any and all liens, mortgages or anything that will impair a title. A warranty deed assuring a perfect title will be made to every lucky ticket holder who wins a prize. The tickets are only placed at $2.50, and besides a standing share to get a beautiful home worth $6,000 or a lot worth $250. You are aiding one of the grandest charities which has ever asked of you aid. Purchase your tickets of any agent or traveling canvasser who has proper credentials. Deeds are deposited with the Puget Sound National Bank.
